TRAPPED BY FIRE FOUR LEAP FROM PORCH ROOF AS DWELLING BURNS

Six persons narrowly escaped with their lives early this morning when fire destroyed the 2½-story frame home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Helwig Jr. and family, on the Hoffman Orphanage-White Church Rd. Littlestown Fire Chief Glenn Ohler and Barlow Fire Chief Bernard V. Miller gave these details of the fire which destroyed the home and all of its contents with the loss estimated at $10,000.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Helwig Jr. had gone to York for the evening, and Mrs. Charles Helwig Sr., 60, was "baby sitting" with their children, Martha, 6; Helen, 9, and Danny, 8, and two children who reside with the Helwigs, Gary Rubenstein, 12, and a three-month-old baby.

Two Trapped Upstairs
Preparing to go to bed near 1 o'clock this morning, Mrs. Helwig Sr. attempted to extinguish a small kerosene stove that she had lighted "to take the chill off" the downstairs room where she had been sitting.

Unable to extinguish the flame, Mrs. Helwig started to carry the kerosene stove out of the house where it could harm nothing. As she was nearing a door, the stove exploded, burning Mrs. Helwig's hands and setting fire to the downstairs of the house.

Gary Rubenstein, who was awake at the time and downstairs, rushed to the second floor to arouse the children sleeping there. Helen Helwig was awakened and was able to escape with the three-month-old baby but the others found themselves trapped on the second floor by the rapidly spreading fire.

Leap From Porch Roof
The 12-year-old boy and Mrs. Helwig's daughter, Martha, 6, and Danny, 8, jumped from a porch roof and the four leaped from the ground. Mrs. Helwig was removed to the home of Elvin Patterson nearby, where she was treated later by Dr. Leonard L. Potter, Littlestown, for her burned hands and for a hip injury. ## Ike Tells Reds To Stop China; U.S. Will Not Quit Far East NEWPORT, R. I. (AP) — President Eisenhower today appealed to Russia to prevail on Red China to renounce use of force in Formosa Strait area and turn to peaceful negotiations.

In a new message to Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, Eisenhower criticized the Kremlin leader for what he called a "one-sided denunciation" of United States policy in the Far East. At the same time, Eisenhower said it perfectly clear that the U. S. has no intention of pulling its forces out of the Far East, as Khrushchev demanded early this week.

Referring to Khrushchev's 4,000-word letter to him, Eisenhower said:

Reds Not Cooperative
"I regret to say I do not see in your letter any effort to find that common language which could indeed facilitate the removal of the danger existing in the current situation in the Taiwan (Formosa) area."

"On the contrary the description of this situation contained in your letter seems designed to serve the ambitions of international communism rather than to present the facts. I also note that you have addressed no letter to the Chinese Communists leaders urging moderation upon them."

"If your letter to me is not merely a vehicle for one-sided denunciation of United States action, but is indeed intended to reflect a desire to find a common language for peace, I suggest you urge these leaders to discontinue their military operations and to turn to a policy of peaceful settlement of the Taiwan dispute."

Approximately 550 incoming Gettysburg students, including 185 women, attended the opening event of orientation week, the freshman banquet, Friday evening at 7 o'clock in the college dining hall. They were greeted by President Paul in behalf of the college family and Burgess Wilbur L. Plank in behalf of the community.

In the reception line which greeted the new students were President and Mrs. Paul Burgess Plank and Dean John W. Shainline. Chaplain Edwirth E. Korte offered the blessing after the students. Dean Shainline welcomed the students to the campus and introduced the members of the student orientation committee: chairman, Judith Keyes; Robert Menges, John Hattery, Patricia Day and Charles Black.

Introduced also were members of the administrative staff: Dean of the college, Seymour B. Dunn; dean of admissions, Charles R. Wolfe; dean of men, W. Ramsay Jones; dean of women, Martha Storek; Chaplain Korte; acting director of guidance and placement, Barbara Platt; administrative assistant to the president, Mrs. Mildred Johnson; medical director, Dr. Tilden Moe; and business manager, F. Stanley Hoffman.

Student President
The president of the student body, Guy Edmiston, also greeted the students after which Mrs. Paul was introduced. President Paul then spoke for about ten minutes outlining the opportunities and responsibilities of the student body.

Burgess Plank told the students: "Your presence will add to our community life."

"We who live here are proud of our college. Proud of its traditions of 126 years in which are merged scholarship, athletic triumphs, devotion to principles, and achievement in later life by men and women who spent formative years on this campus."

"As you also spend an impressionable period in Gettysburg you will gradually become aware of the town's heritage of heroic deeds. Generations of Gettysburg College students have felt the greatness that invests this national shrine."

The program closed with the singing of the Alma Mater.

Faubus Closes Little Rock Schools In Defiance Of U.S. Supreme Court To Integrate

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — This city sat tense and fearful today while the greatest states' rights struggle since the Civil War swirled through it.

Gov. Orval E. Faubus threw his reserve power into the momentous conflict Friday when he ordered all Little Rock high schools closed as of Monday, the day scheduled for the fall term to open.

He acted because Central High School faced mixing of white and Negro students in classes for the second straight year. He stated he sought to prevent violence that would result if integration occurred.

The governor moved only hours after the U.S. Supreme Court said in effect that Central High, scene of racial riots and guarded by troops last year must continue integration no matter how violent the opposition.

Open "Private" School
Faubus' apparent objective is to close the four Little Rock high schools — including all-Negro Horace Mann High — then open Central High and possibly others as private schools with the state paying tuition.

town, was sentenced to from 1½ to 3 years in the Eastern Penitentiary beginning September 4 and ordered to pay the costs.

Sentence was imposed by the Adams County Court Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Dorothy C. Smith, Hunters-town, was sentenced to from three to six months in the Adams County jail on charges of abandonment of her children and a morals charge. The sentence was to begin as of the date of her original arrest July 1. She was also ordered to pay the costs. Her court-appointed attorney, John Thrush, told the court Mrs. Smith was a "poor, passive and stupid woman, whose husband had been put away for five years, who was constantly molested by her brother-in-law, Glenn Smith, and the court knows the awful indignities to which she suffered in married life." The court told Mrs. Smith, "We know your situation and it is not good, but we cannot understand how you could abandon your children as you did."

NEW PHYSICAL THERAPIST AT LOCAL HOSPITAL

Leonard M. "Jack" Luchsinger has been appointed resident physical therapist at the Annie M. Warner Hospital. It was announced today by Walter Dillon, hospital administrator. He has assumed his duties filling a vacancy which has existed in the hospital staff since early this year.

A native of Blairsville, Luchsinger completed his physical therapy training in 1956, at the D. T. Watson School of Physical Therapy, an affiliate of the University of Pittsburgh. He studied one and a half years at Waynesburg College prior to transferring to the Watson School.

A stint one summer as a counselor at Camp Easter Seal, Somerset, where he worked with crippled children is credited by Luchsinger with precipitating his decision to make physical therapy his career.

Determine Treatment

In the physical therapy department here he will handle cases where doctors prescribe one of the various types of therapy, such as massage, exercise, infra-red, paraffin, or ultrasonic treatment. He will also aid in testing patients to determine types of treatment to be applied.

Therapy services at the local hospital are an adjunct to medical and surgical treatment and have demonstrated their value in a variety of ways, such as restoration of the use of muscles following inactivity during the healing of a fracture, restoration of movement in stroke cases and in cases of sprains and strains, according to Dillon.

Before coming to Gettysburg, Luchsinger worked in the Harnesburg Rehabilitation Center near Pittsburgh. It was in Pittsburgh that he met his wife, the former Liz Graham, also a physical therapist. The couple plan to make their home here and are, for the present, residing in a mobile home nearby.

Mrs. Staub was brought to the Warner Hospital where she was treated for a two-inch laceration of the left leg, multiple abrasions and contusions of the arms, legs and face. After treatment she was discharged.

COUNTY APPLE GROWERS JOIN PRICE PROTEST

Adams County fruit growers Friday night joined more than 400 other growers from five states in protest against "the disastrous apple price" announced this week by eastern canneries.

Nearly a score of local orchardists attended the meeting at Winchester called to adopt a "protest program" designed to influence processors to reconsider the apple prices announced earlier this week.

According to county men who returned late Friday night from the four-hour meeting, all the growers gathered in the Glaise packing house at Winchester agreed to join in the three-point program "to try to save our businesses." Pledging themselves to "diminish, divert and defer" their 1958 crop, the apple growers voted to defer and withhold deliveries to processors until the price structure is reconsidered.

Name Steering Committee

This is a movement which has already begun in the Shenandoah area where one plant was reported shut down Friday afternoon for lack of deliveries. It is expected that with aroused growers joining the effort against announced prices by holding back delivery of their apples to the canneries, other plants will be affected.

The second "D" in the program, to divert as much of the 1958 crop as possible to the fresh market has already begun. All four of the Appalachian states, Virginia, West Virginia, Maryland and Pennsylvania, have in the last two days stepped up their selling to truckers and packers and the third "D"—to diminish the crop for the market—was described as a plan to leave at least 10 per cent of the poorer part of the poorer part of the crop in the orchard rather than deliver them to processors at a loss.

Officers estimated total damages at $570.

Virginia Governor Closes Schools In Warren County

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Warren County, the last Virginia locality in which school integration had been ordered, will become the first to shut down a school under the state's program of massive resistance to race-mixing.

Gov. J. Lindsay Almond Jr., invoking the extraordinary power vested in him by state anti-integration laws, Friday night took over—effective Monday—the 1,000-pupil Warren County high school at Front Royal.

He said "under the compulsion" of a federal court order entered less than a week ago, both white and Negro children had been inescapably enrolled in the school as of Monday.

Will Affect Others
Thus the school closure law, the ultimate weapon in Virginia's war to prevent race-mixing in its public schools, dealt its initial blow to an upper Shenandoah Valley area with a relatively small Negro population. The law automatically closes any school integrated for any reason.

Yet it appeared only a matter of days until the same law might close schools in Norfolk, Charlottesville and possibly Arlington County, a Washington suburb. In all these localities, federal district judges have ordered integration.

Light Receives 10-20-Year Prison Sentence From Court In Fatal Stabbing Of Wife

FOUND GUILTY HERE, LANDS IN JAIL AT YORK

Mark Michael Sullivan, 25-year-old Harrisburg resident who was found guilty by an Adams County jury at 6:10 o'clock Friday evening on charges of pointing a gun and a malicious mischief to property, landed in the York County jail a few hours later after ramming a car operated by his former wife and after creating a scene in the office of Conecaw Twp. Justice of the Peace William Y. Nail Sr.

After the jury had returned with its verdict here, after nearly two hours deliberation, Sullivan, who had been on bail for the trial here, was told by the Adams County court to return Monday for sentencing on the charges.

Martin Dyson, Midway, and Loretta Sullivan, his daughter, and former wife of Mark Michael Sullivan, had brought the charges of pointing a gun and malicious mischief to the Dyson property at 406 Diller Rd., Midway, after Sullivan allegedly came to the home in June and, when he was refused admittance, smashed windows at the home and pointed a gun at his former wife and his former mother-in-law.

Sullivan apparently left here for the home of his former wife in Midway after leaving court.

District Attorney Daniel E. Teeter was notified after Sullivan had been placed in the York County jail. Attorney Teeter then placed a detainer with York County authorities so they will release him only to Adams County jurisdiction after they have completed action in the surety of the peace charge brought against Sullivan before Justice Nail.

The local district attorney learned this sequence of events from his investigation into new charge against Sullivan.

Threatened Wife Here

At 4:15 o'clock Friday afternoon, the jury hearing the charges against Sullivan here began its deliberation Mr. and Mrs. Dyson and their daughter and Attorney Harry C. Stonessier, Hanover, who had represented them, left at that time because Attorney Stonessier had another appointment.

District Attorney Teeter said the Dysons told him this morning that Sullivan approached them as they were leaving the court house and told Mrs. Dyson that she "hadn't heard the last of this" and told his divorced wife that he would "get her."

Upon their arrival at their leave home, Mr. Dyson had to leave for employment at the York Fair and the two women, at home with Mr. and Mrs. Sullivan's two small children, aged 6 and 18 months, locked doors in fear that Sullivan (Continued On Page 2)

SCHOOL BOARD TO MEET

A special meeting of the Gettysburg borough school board has been called for Monday evening at 8 o'clock in the office of Superintendent of Schools H. Edgar Riegler at the high school for the purpose of discussing the general extension education program for the winter months. President Ray J. Kitzmiller will preside.

Virginia Governor Closes Schools In Warren County

Announcement of the governor's action in assuming "all power and control" over the Front Royal school was made at the governor's office Friday night in the form of a letter to the county school board and superintendent. The governor was not present.

Future Is Unknown
An aide said there would be no statement at the time on any plans for reorganizing the school on a segregated basis. State law empowers the governor to try this.

The development appeared to relieve the county school board of responsibility under the order of Federal Dist. Judge John Paul and to bring the governor squarely before the power of the federal courts.

Should the governor attempt to reopen the school on a segregated basis and fail, the next step under the state laws would be for him to turn the school back to the local authorities if requested to—and he so chooses. He is not required to, and both the school board and governing body must request such action before he can.

The consensus is that Almond has no intention of turning any school back to local authorities to be operated on an integrated basis.

Francis N. Light, 50-year-old Hanover truck driver, found guilty by an Adams County jury this week of second degree murder in the fatal stabbing of his wife, was sentenced by the Adams County court to from 10 to 20 years in the Eastern State Penitentiary and ordered to pay the costs. The sentence is to begin as of July 8 when Light was incarcerated after having been found lying under a bush near a car in which police had found the dead body of his wife stuffed in the trunk.

Court appointed attorneys for Light pointed to his good reputation as an employee as Light stood before the court for sentence. Judge W. C. Sheely said there was no doubt about Light's reputation but that "this situation did not warrant such violence." Light remained impassive at his sentencing as he had remained throughout his trial.

The court's use of the term violence in sentencing the wife-murderer pointed up a comment made by the court earlier in the sentencing of approximately 18 defendants Friday afternoon. "There seems to be an epidemic of violence in this county and the court cannot condone it," Judge Sheely said after sentencing a number of men for acts of violence.

Knox Is Warned

That comment was made by the court after warning Kenneth Knox of

ADAMS PASTORS HOLD MEETING

The program and organization of the newly-formed Adams County Council of Churches were outlined at the Adams County Ministerium at its September meeting by the Rev. Lester Karschner, member of the steering committee which guided the county council in its early stages. The meeting was held in the Methodist Church here.

The Rev. Mr. Karschner said that more than 30 churches from all parts of the county already have joined and that charter membership is being held open until the first meeting of the council's Assembly in January.

Dr. Paul L. Reaser, county ministerium president, presided at Monday's meeting with the host pastor, the Rev. William Fenstermaker, conducting devotions. Rev. Robert A. MacAskill, ministerium secretary, announced the organization will be responsible for "Doorway to Life" programs on the Lancaster television station November 2 and April 5.

The Rev. Norman Marden, chairman of the Migrant Workers committee, reported on that work for the summer. He said the Rev. Manuel Rodriguez completed his services here September 8 and that the Rev. George Walborn has been named to carry on the work among the migrants.

The county pastors discussed ministry and spiritual guidance to inmates of county institutions and it was suggested that the churches cooperate in encouraging countians to register and vote in the forthcoming election.

After the meeting a luncheon was served by the host church.

COUNTY APPLE

The protest program was chosen Friday evening by Kenneth Robinson, who presided at the meeting. Named to represent Adams County growers on that committee were Ralph W. Tyson, recent president of the Fruit Growers Association of Adams County, and William M. Lott, second vice president of the Pennsylvania Horticultural Association.

Crop Below Estimates
While early reports of a bumper apple crop have come in from all parts of the Appalachian area, growers from Virginia, West Virginia and Maryland Friday night said that early harvests in their orchards indicated that the crop was "picking out short" and that the apple crop over-all might not reach the expected proportions.

At Friday evening's meeting it was repeatedly pointed out that currently announced prices for apples are far below production costs for the second consecutive year and although the crop is of better quality than last year the growers who generally lost money on their '57 sales will be "badly hurt" this year unless price adjustments are shortly forthcoming.

Among the Adams county growers who attended were Messrs. Tyson and Lott, Arthur Rice, John Peters, Oliver Haycock, Harry McDannell, George Schriver, Donald Garretson, Russell Weaver, William Lower, John Pitzer, James Oyster, Ryland Garretson, Guy Beamer, Robert C. Lott and Clay Snyder.

WAYNESBORO, Pa. (AP)—An automobile accident a week ago took the life of a second brother with the death today of Barry Lee Brown, 17, of nearby Monterey, in the Waynesboro Hospital.

The other brother, Terry Lee Brown, 14, died Monday of injuries suffered Sunday when their car ran off a mountain road at a curve and hit a tree. Barry was driving the car.

BOY IS KILLED IN DUMB WAITER

COPLAY, Pa. (AP)—A 16-year-old boy was found dead Friday in a dumbwaiter shaft, his head caught between the car and the door of the shaft.

The body was found in the dumbwaiter shaft by a German singing group in this Lehigh County community. The boy, a ninth grade student at Coplay High School, was a part-time pinboy in the club's bowling alley.

Police said he apparently was hungry, entered the club through an open window on an upper floor and was trying to reach the kitchen downstairs by means of the dumbwaiter. His weight apparently caused the dumbwaiter car to move, catching his neck and head between the top of the car and door sill. Police believe he died Wednesday night. The club is usually open only on weekends.

An autopsy was ordered to determine the exact cause of death.

would seek to molest them when the trial in Gettysburg was completed.

Rammed By Other Car
Later they saw Sullivan's car arrive and park nearby. They were determined to take the infants with them and drive to the Hanover police station for protection.

Attorney Teeter said they told him that as they sought to leave the driveway of the house Sullivan tried to block the driveway with his car but Mrs. Sullivan who was driving, eluded her former husband's car.

As the Dyson vehicle drove through Midway into Hanover, Sullivan's car rammed repeatedly into the rear of the car driven by Mrs. Sullivan, they told the district attorney. At times Sullivan allegedly pulled his car alongside Mrs. Sullivan's auto and according to her, tried to force her car off the road.

Taken Into Custody
Mrs. Sullivan "ran" red lights enroute to the police station to attempt to escape Sullivan but he also "ran" the lights.

When Mrs. Sullivan pulled up in front of the Hanover police station Sullivan parked his car on the wrong side of the street in a no parking zone, ran across the street and attempted to get into the car operated by Mrs. Sullivan.

By this time, police arrived and Sullivan told them he wanted to talk to his wife and mother-in-law and children. The officers said they had seen the actions preceding their arrival and took Sullivan into the police station.

Mrs. Sullivan told Attorney Teeter that at one time in the flight from her home to the police station, either from the ramming of the speed of travel, a small crib holding the six-month-old baby on the rear seat of the car tilted and the infant was dropped to the floor of the car.

Hanover police took Sullivan before Justice Nail where Mrs. Sullivan was released.

ALCORN, BUTLER TRADE "BLOWS" ON SCHOOL FUSS

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Democratic National Chairman Paul Butler said Friday night: "I do not believe that open defiance of the law of the land as interpreted by the Supreme Court represents the opinion of the majority of Democrats."

This statement came during a shouted exchange between Butler and the Republican national chairman, Meade Alcorn, who forecast a third party in the 1960 elections.

The two were members of a question and answer panel at the annual Griddle Show of the Kansas City Press Club. Here was the sequence:

Butler (addressing Alcorn): "I see by the papers that you were in Little Rock just before you came here. Did you have anything to say about integration while you were down there?"

Alcorn: "I'll say one thing, Mr. Butler, I can make the same speech in Little Rock as I can in Chicago and that's more than you can do. Have you been in Little Rock lately?"

Butler said he did not plan to go to Little Rock and did not subscribe to the views expressed by Gov. Orval E. Faubus of Arkansas, also a Democrat. He said he did not believe a vast majority of Democrats supported a man who "openly flouted the law of the land."

Alcorn: "I'll say we are going to face a much weakened Democratic party in the 1960 elections and a third party . . . made up of southern conservatives who will leave the Democrats at the open invitation just extended by Mr. Butler."

Another heated exchange took place when a questioner said: "Mr. Butler, we see that in New York State the Republicans have matched you millionaire for millionaire. How much longer are you going to try and kid the people yours is the party of the common man?"

Butler: "The Republicans are simply trying to match Averell Harriman (in the race for governor) with a millionaire, Nelson Rockefeller. There is nothing in the fact that some Democrats have considerable money. They still support government for all the people. They don't represent special interests like the Republicans."

Alcorn: "Well, at least we're not subject to the will of the labor bosses. No labor man like Walter Reuther (president of the United Auto Workers Union) can come into our convention and tell the delegates what they can do or cannot do."

Using water from a well at the front of the house, a cistern partially under the blazing structure and water from a creek nearby the two fire companies were able to prevent the blaze from spreading to a wash house six feet from the dwelling and other nearby buildings.

To Extend Expressway

Although no precise location was mentioned, Dilworth indicated he would like to see the connection run diagonally from Philadelphia to a point on the shortway near Williamsport.

He proposed that the connection be placed on the federal interstate system.

Meantime, a agreement was reached at the conference to extend the Delaware Expressway from the center of Philadelphia to the Walt Whitman Bridge connection between South Philadelphia and southern New Jersey and to the industrial highway in south Philadelphia.

HARRISBURG (AP)—The General State Authority would buy the Pennsylvania Turnpike and make it toll free under a proposal made by Philadelphia Mayor Richardson Dilworth.

The Mayor said Thursday night such a move would wipe out his opposition to rapid construction of the proposed Keystone Shortway between Stroudsburg and Sharon.

He said the Commonwealth could appropriate 18 million dollars a year for more than 25 years to the GSA to amortize the bond issue it would have to make to pay off the turnpike purchase.

400 Million Price Tag

Dilworth said on a television panel show (Capitol Correspondents-WTPA) he did not oppose the shortway as a Federal interstate highway project.

"I simply feel it would be shortsighted to build the Shortway on a crash program basis—they (the Keystone Shortway Assn.) want it done in five years—while roads in urban centers are urgently needed," Dilworth said.

Buying up the Turnpike would cost the GSA in excess of 440 million dollars. At the present rate of toll revenues, it would take until 1993 to free the Turnpike from this source.

Legislation Required

Although Dilworth mentioned GSA as a possible purchaser, an agency known as the State Highway and Bridge Authority is already halting construction of free roads on a rental basis to the Commonwealth.

It would take an act of the Legislature to authorize the Dilworth proposal.

Earlier Thursday Mayor Dilworth suggested that a connection be made between Philadelphia and the proposed Keystone Shortway.

The suggestion was made at a conference between Dilworth and Lewis M. Stevens, secretary of highways.

Although no precise location was mentioned, Dilworth indicated he would like to see the connection run diagonally from Philadelphia to a point on the shortway near Williamsport.

He proposed that the connection be placed on the federal interstate system.

Meantime, a agreement was reached at the conference to extend the Delaware Expressway from the center of Philadelphia to the Walt Whitman Bridge connection between South Philadelphia and southern New Jersey and to the industrial highway in south Philadelphia.

Today's Talk

FROM MY OFFICE WINDOW

Much depends upon what we do and love, or are interested in, as to what kind of a personality
we create for ourselves. I love beauty in all its forms. A fallen maple leaf may be the occasion of revealing an entirely new viewpoint — and this fact brings us to the subject of views.

I work on the 28th floor of a 42-story New York City so-called skyscraper. Looking down to the street, people look like a hill of ants that has just been disturbed
— people rushing in all directions, eager, restless, and many full of fear and worry. But they are a part of us all who are born, who work and keep striving, and then our friends mark down that significant word — thirty (30).

Right under one of my windows is the picturesque St. Patrick's Cathedral. All day long people go in and out of this beautiful temple of God seeking comfort and guidance. A little to the left is the famous Fifth Avenue, now surrounding to the high building craze. City people, more and more,
are moving to the suburbs.

At the left, from my high perch, are the great scattered tall buildings which, when all are finished, will probably become famous as
"The Skyscraper Brothers," with the famous Waldorf-Astoria warming them, and perhaps warming
them, as a hen does its batch of chicks.

The tallest of these East Side sky reachers is the Chrysler Building, very modest and beautiful in a nest of other great building giants. I do a great deal of thinking as I also view the East River and bridges that carry on this seeming sight of human material and men's dreams. What of the morrow?

Just Folks

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 13

LONGING

I want to go fishing. I'm seeking a way

To fly from the hurry and whirl

of the day;

The blue skies above me, the river

blow;

I want to go back to the trout hole I know.

I want to go back to the stream

I know well

And rest for a day in its sweet,

soothing spell;

I know where the beauties, the speckled ones lie.

I know where they'll jump to the lure of a fly.

I want to go back to the place of my birth.

To the swift running stream. Oh,

its pleasures are worth

More than all that the city gives me to enjoy;

I want to go back where I romped

as a boy.

I'm weary of working, mock pleasure

books seem;

I want to go back to the joy of the stream;

I'm sick of the make-believe life

that I lead.

I long for the trout stream; I want to be freed.

County History
The Old Stone Manse

By B. F. M. MacPherson

When James Dickson presented the congregation of Great Conewago Presbyterian Church with a deed to fifty-two acres of land for a church and burial ground, they immediately proceeded to build a log meeting house thereon. This primitive structure stood near the present stone church and served the frontier congregation for some forty years.

In 1780 the Rev. Joseph W.
Henderson was "called" to Great Conewago Presbyterian Church.
He was a young man just out of seminary when he was ordained and installed on June 20, 1781.
For six years the Rev. Mr. Henderson preached in the log church but, at the end of that time, he informed the congregation that the old edifice was no longer adequate.
A new church must be built. He volunteered to assume full responsibility for the plan of the new meeting house. It would not be necessary to hire an architect.

Vote For New Church
In due time the congregation voted to build a new church. A great deal of the work was done
by the men of the congregation.
Completed it was a testimonial to the personality and push of the minister. The massive stone structure remains to this day — an example of good workmanship.

Not too far away, "as the crow
flies," from Great Conewago Church, the first manse was built.
Nine years after he accepted the "call" to the Conewago congregation the Rev. Joseph W. Henderson purchased, for four hundred and thirty-five pounds, ten shillings, a tract of land containing some two hundred acres from John Forsyth. This transaction was completed on May 12, 1792.

The house which the Rev. Mr.
Henderson built on his land was,
like Great Conewago Church, constructed of native stone. Insofar as the number and size of the rooms are concerned the first and second floors of this building are identically the same. It is the opinion of experts that the same stonemason built the walls of Conewago Roman Catholic Chapel,
Great Conewago Presbyterian Church, and the "Stone Manse."

The name of this craftsman will probably never be known, but these three structures stand as a monument to his skill and careful workmanship.

Was Original Grant
The tract of land on which the old "Stone Manse" was built was an original grant from John and Thomas Penn to an unknown settler living on what was then the extreme western frontier. In the possession of the present owners of the farm are a series of old deeds and indentures, giving the names of the various owners and other valuable historical data. A synopsis of these documents is herewith given, as follows:

1. Deed — dated August 17, 1762. On that date Henry Donnelly deeded to Patrick Montgomery
his plantation of some two hundred acres. Said Montgomery paid two hundred and sixty pounds for the same. It is very probable that Henry Donnelly was the original owner and the person who received the grant from the Penns. In this deed no previous owner is mentioned.

Sells Plantation
2. Deed — dated June 1, 1777.
On this date Patrick Montgomery
sold the plantation he purchased from Henry Donnelly to Hans Morrison. Said Morrison paid four hundred and twenty pounds for the same.

It is rather interesting to note that Hans Morrison was a rather important man in the early history of Hunterstown. He owned a store, tavern, and still in the village,
and was instrumental in the development of the town.

3. Deed Poll — dated December 28, 1791. On this date the Sheriff of York County, Pennsylvania, sold one hundred and sixty-five acres, belonging to the estate of Hans (or Hance) Morrison, deceased, known as "Montgomery's Place" to John Forsyth. The price in this transaction was two hundred and twenty-five pounds.

Note: — Without a doubt this plantation was named for its second owner, Patrick Montgomery.
It is thus designated in all of the early deeds.

4. Indenture — dated May 12,
1792. On this date John Forsyth

deeded to the Rev. Joseph W.
Henderson, pastor of Great Conewago Presbyterian Church, one hundred and sixty-five acres of land, "acquired through Sheriff's Sale from the estate of Hans Morrison, deceased, December 28,
1791, known as 'Montgomery's Place.' " The consideration in this sale was four hundred and thirty-five pounds, ten shillings.

5. Deed — dated March 23, 1802.
On this date the Rev. Joseph Henderson and Elizabeth, his wife,
of Armstrong, Westmoreland County, Pennsylvania, sold to Abraham Fickes and Jacob Tauenbaugh (Taughinbaugh) one hundred and sixty-five acres in Strab-
an Township, Adams County, Pennsylvania. The consideration in Note: — According to a fairly reliable tradition Jacob Tauenbaugh (Taughinbaugh) was a Hessian soldier during the War of the American Revolution. When that struggle finally came to an end he (Jacob Tauenbaugh), like so many of his countrymen, remained in this country and became a most reputable citizen.

BUDDY EBSSEN
IS WOODSMAN
FOR TV ONLY

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—Buddy Ebs-
sen, who plays the role of an outstanding woodsman of colonial days in the new television series
"Northwest Passage," was ambushed the other day into describing his personal life in the woods and how to start a fire without matches.

"You take a couple of hot electrical wires," he said, "and touch their ends together and if you're lucky the sparks will eventually light something."

Ebsen, the most candidly refreshing TV outdoor hero who has yet crossed our wilderness path, confessed that his personal life in the woods has been confined to serving as outdoor consultant to his daughter's Brownie troop.

Crafty Woodsman On TV
However, as Sgt. Hunk Marriner of Rogers' Rangers in Kenneth Roberts' "Northwest Passage,"
making his debut on NBC-TV Sunday, he's the craftiest woodsman
on the winning side of the French and Indian War.

Ebsen has three daughters, aged 9, 8 and 6, and one attractive wife
(a Brownie mother) who accompanied him to New York and listened with growing horror as he described his life in the woods as outdoor consultant for her Brownie troop.

"I have here," he said, "a card
identifying me as a Brownie outdoor consultant—and I got it just the way every other consultant got his. My wife said she had to take the Brownies to the woods for a weekend and a man had to be along."

Knows Brown's Song
"So I, along with 24 other Brownie fathers, enlisted in this course taught by a Brownie leader. First she showed us pictures of things like a guy up to his armpits in snow and she'd say, 'This is snow.' I kept asking her how to make a fire without matches, but she kept ignoring me."

"Somehow I managed to get my outdoor consultant's card and my wife and I went off to this cabin in the woods with 24 Brownies.
I had to sleep in the same room with 'em and the first night I overslept. It was broad daylight when I woke up and there were 24 pairs of Brownie eyes staring at me. I dived into a sort of broom closet and that was my dressing room for the weekend."

"I did manage to learn the Brownie song. Everybody stand up and hold hands and I'll show you how it goes."

WEAPONS OF DEFEAT

Subs And Rockets Are Tools of Losers — "Absolute Weapons"
Lead To Disaster

BELIEVE IT OR NOT, but the victors in the last war are stealing the loser's weapons as the means to victory in the next war.
It does not make sense, but that is what is happening.

Since they crushed Austria in the Seven Weeks War, 1866, the Germans have been confident their land forces could defeat any combination of European armies.

The Franco-Prussian War, 1870,
and World Wars I and II proved they were right. What they did not count on were 2 million American soldiers in France, 1918; and 4 million in Europe, in 1945.

FROM THE beginning, Germany knew she was weak at sea. The defeat of the Kaiser's surface fleets
in the great naval battle off Jutland, May 31, 1916, justified their worst fears. They realized that breaking the throttle hold of the British blockade by conventional naval warfare was hopeless.

GERMANY THEN turned to the submarine as an "absolute weapon" at sea. Other weapons were shelved. Unrestricted, all out submarine warfare was proclaimed.
To this end, German technology created the fastest and best submarines then known.

It was here the Germans became the victims of their own ruthless efficiency. America entered the war because of it. American convoys, destroyer patrols, barrier nets, mine fields and sonar techniques proved the submarine was not "absolute," even when use to the logical ultimate, America's Navy put two million U.S. soldiers in France. They tipped the balance of land power against Germany for World War I defeat, 1918.

But the Germans remembered that their splendid U-boats had all but won a war. They kept their blueprints, their skilled technicians and their dreams of weapons absolute.

HITLER ACTIVATED those dreams with a small but splendid fleet of submarines. From the outset of World War II, 1939, submarine improvement and production were of the highest priority.

History repeated itself. Unlimited submarine warfare was drawing America into the war
even before the Japs bombed us into it with their foolhardy Pearl Harbor raid.

But England and America found Hitler's sinking, undersea fleets far more difficult to smother than had been the Kaiser's. The allies won but by such a thin margin
they suffered submarine fright.

From the spoils of 1945, Russia
grabbed as many plans, dockyard machinery, marine architects and technicians as she could lay hand upon. England and America did likewise.

A submarine arms race with Russia has existed since that year.
BY A QUIRK of fate the submarine has become teamed up with an erstwhile land missile. Hitler began grasping at technological straws leading to new absolute weapons for distant bombing, when he decided he could not invade England.

It was the long range rocket,
unveiled summer of 1944 as secret weapon V-2. It hit London from launching pads in Germany. It, like the German submarines, gave the English a scare from which they have not recovered.

From the spoils of 1945 Russia
grabbed Peenemunde, Hitler's little Cape Canaveral on the Baltic.
With it they captured experimental types

Fumbles, Penalties Take Toll As Warriors Suffer 20-13 Jolt At Westminster

A rash of fumbles, two of which were turned into Westminster touchdowns in the first 1:30 minutes of play, put the Gettysburg High Warriors in a hole from which they never escaped as the Owls tripped the Warriors 20-13 in a stunning upset before approximately 2,500 fans at Westminster Friday evening as both teams inaugurated the 1958 football season.

Ben Jones' outfit made a brilliant comeback in the last half, scoring a pair of touchdowns in the last period, but it was not enough. Midway in the second quarter the Warriors moved the ball to the Owl 1-yard stripe but were set back on a penalty and then lost the ball on downs.

Owls Get First Start

Tommy Crist took Berry Lee's opening kickoff and returned to the Gettysburg 23-yard line. On third down Joel Riddemoser fumbled and Westminster recovered. Merv Baust then swept end from the 27 to race over for a score after one minute of action. The try for the point failed.

Just 30 seconds later Westminster notched its second TD. This time Crist returned the kickoff to his 22. Bill Shoemaker then fumbled with Jim Shaeffer recovering for the Owls. Baust chucked up his second tally on another end run from the 29 and Shaeffer booted the extra point to make it 13-0.

Fumbles continued although there was no further scoring in the first half. Crist, a fine runner all evening, returned the third Westminster kickoff to midfield where he fumbled and the Owls again recovered. After a pass, Martin to Smelser, was good for eight yards, the Warriors took possession on a fumble recovery. Riddemoser got nine yards around end but a short time later fumbled with Matthal pouncing on the ball for the home team.

Gettysburg made its first scoring threat late in the opening period after Jimmy Bricker recovered an Owl fumble. Riddemoser passed to Shoemaker for 5 yards and Crist swept end for 22. Shoemaker pounced through for another first down before Westminster braced and took over on downs deep in its own territory. Gene Hill punted to Crist on the Gettysburg 48 as the period ended.

Bob Furney, another consistent ground-gainer for Gettysburg, battered his way eight yards to open the second period, but once again a fumble stopped the locals as Westminster recovered Riddemoser's fumble.

Martin connected on three passes, one of which was good for 28 yards, as the Warriors had their backs to the wall again but they were equal to the occasion and took over on downs.

Penalties Stop GHS

The Jonesmen made a strong bid to score shortly afterwards, Furney picked up a first down on his own 28. Riddemoser, on a draw play, ran to the 42. Crist streaked around end to the 35. Riddemoser hurried a pass to Crist for another first down on the 11. Furney hit the line to the 4 and Riddemoser reached the 1 but a penalty stopped the threat, Westminster taking over when a pass fell incomplete.

Immediately thereafter the Warriors were knocking in vain again at the goal line. Westminster booted out with Crist returning to the 27. Crist streaked to the 5 for a first down. Riddemoser lost three before a 15-yard penalty for holding set the Warriors back to the 25 with Westminster taking over on downs just before the half ended.

Owl Aerials Click

The Owls took to the air to set up their third TD after two minutes of the final period. Smelser returned the kickoff to his 45. Martin passed to Baust for 16 yards and tossed to Smelser for 13. Two more passes, Martin to Baust, set the stage for Smelser to plunge over from the 2. Martin plunged for the extra point.

An off-side penalty frustrated the Warriors a short time later. Furney returned the kickoff to his 35, and then picked up 8 yards on a blast through the line. He soon added the first down. Riddemoser connected on a pass to Bob Grosholtz which put the ball on the Owl 8. Furney went over on the next play but an off-side infringement nullified the play and the Warriors never recovered, Westminster taking over and booting out of danger.

Furney Tallies

Early in the final period Westminster kicked out to its 45. On the second play Furney raced to the 13 and two plays later pounced over from the 11. Ted Fair's dropkick for the point was blocked.

Gettysburg took advantage of an Owl fumble to tally its second touchdown. Crist recovered a fumble on the Westminster 47. Furney and Crist moved the ball to the 30 and Hardy Nichols fired a pass to Furney for a first down on the 25. Crist bolted through the middle to the nine and Shoemaker hammered to the three from where Crist scored. A pass, Fair to Furney, was good for the point.

Two plays later the game was history.

The Warriors will be idle next week, resuming action at Shippensburg Friday evening, September 26.

LEN MATTHEWS GETS NOD OVER TOMMY TIBBS

By RALPH BERNSTEIN

Associated Press Sports Writer

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Len Matthews was as happy as a kid with a new toy after outpointing tough Tommy Tibbs in their 10-round scrap at the Arena Friday night.

"Now everyone ought to be convinced I can box and can go 10 rounds," said the 19-year-old Philadelphia lightweight who won 12 of his previous 13 fights by knockouts and had averaged 3½ rounds per fight.

"Sure I tried to knock him out when I had him in trouble in the 10th round, but my manager is right. Winning on points is the best thing that could happen to me. I've got to realize you can't win them all by knockouts," Matthews philosophized in his dressing room.

"Now Were Ready"

"That's right kid," said Manager Tony Graziano. "You showed you can box and can defend yourself. Now we're ready for any of the rated lightweights."

Matthews did give a sparse arena crowd—an estimated 2,000—saw the nationally televised fight—an excellent demonstration of boxing. He worked over the 24-year-old Tibbs with beautiful right and left hand combinations, staggering him several times and planting a big mouse under the Bostonian's right eye. Matthews was unmarked and unruffled at the end.

Loses Two Rounds

The tall Philadelphia Negro lost only two rounds on the official scorecards, the eighth according to Referee Pete Tomasco, and the first in the opinion of Judge Jim Weston. The announced scores of the referee and two judges under Pennsylvania's compulsory 5-point per round system were 49-42, 50-37 and 49-43.

The Associated Press thought Matthews made every round a winning one, scoring him the decisive victory, 50-35. Matthews weighed 132 to 130½ for Tibbs.

Despite his easy victory, Matthews still has to show his worth against a top flight opponent. Tibbs is a sturdy little fellow who can take a punch. But he also proved to be a light hitter whom Matthews could waste into without fear of being hurt.

Binghamton Blanks Lancaster 9 To 0

LANCASTER, Pa. (AP)—Binghamton's Billy Stafford fastballed his way to a 9-0 shutout over the Lancaster Red Roses Friday night in the opening game of the Eastern League championship series for the Richardson Cup.

The 20-year-old right-hander spaced five hits and got five strikeouts as the Triplets demonstrated the form which won the northern division championship.

After notching single runs in the third and fourth innings, the Triplets put the game away with a four-run outburst in the fifth.

The second game in the best-of-five series will be played to-night with action shifting to Binghamton Sunday and returning here if a fifth game is necessary.

attendance.

That just about sums up Friday night's action in the National Football League.

Gallimore, the fleet youngster from Little Florida A&M, continued his brilliant preseason performances, scoring four touchdowns, one a 95-yard kick-off return, leading the Chicago Bears to a 42-31 victory over Cleveland.

The Bears, now 5-0, are the only undefeated team in exhibition play.

Wade, the No. 1 Los Angeles quarterback with the departure of the veteran Norm Van Brocklin, accounted for 313 yards in the air as Los Angeles nipped San Francisco 40-38, completing all 11 pass attempts in the first half and winding up with 18 out of 26.

In the other game, Chicago's Cardinals defeated Pittsburgh 21-7.

The attendance for the three games was almost 140,000—an average of over 45,000.

The Rams and 49ers drew 62,546 at Los Angeles' Coliseum, the Bears and Browns 52,000 at Chicago's Soldier Field and the Cards and Steelers 52,302 to Busch Stadium in St. Louis.

Offers $200,000 For Title Battle

GOTEBORG, Sweden (AP)—A Swedish boxing promoter is willing to offer world champion Floyd Patterson $200,000 for a title fight in Sweden against European champion Ingemar Johansson.

Edwin Ahlquist, manager of Johansson and promoter of the Johansson-Eddie Machen fight here Sunday, made his offer today.

"It is a lot of money but it is worth it," said Ahlquist. A world title fight needs a lot of money and of course I would have to raise ticket prices if that dream became true. The interest for the Johansson-Machen fight has, however, shown that we have the audience here to stage a world title bout."

A capacity crowd of 53,000 will see the Machen-Johansson fight.

Canners Drop 14-13 Thriller To New Cumberland; Long Runs Account For All Touchdowns

Biglerville High School's football season opener was ruined on a one-man performance by Larry Simpson, New Cumberland High backfield ace, as the Canners dropped a thrilling 14-13 Lower Susquehanna Conference game to the Tigers at Biglerville Friday evening before approximately 1,500 fans.

Simpson, a 6-1, 165-pound senior, raced for both New Cumberland scores, one on a 65-yard punt return and the other on a 45-yarder via a quick opening play after 7:50 minutes of the final period to tie the score after which Bill Lenge-man, a left-footed kicker, placed-kicked his second extra point to provide the winning point. The fleet Tiger back carried the ball on nearly 80 per cent of the tries and smothered a late rally by Biglerville with a pass interception shortly before the final whistle.

The game was jam-packed with thrills in the last rounds after a scoreless first half in which New Cumberland once moved to the Biglerville 2 early in the second period before being halted by the stout Canner line.

BUILDING AND FARM

Seed Treatment Boosts Yields, Says Adams Farm Agent Zettle

By FRANK ZETTEL
County Farm Agent

Winter grains will soon be planted. Fields planted with treated seed usually out-yield untreated fields by two to 10 bushels per acre. During germination the seeds and young seedlings are susceptible to attacks by various disease organisms. Seed rots and damping-off reduce stands. Smuts destroy grain and lower grain quality. Chemical treatment destroys organisms carried on the outside of the seed, and protects it after planting and during germination. Stinking smut of wheat, covered smut of barley, and the oat smuts are also controlled.

Many seed dealers and processing concerns have large capacity treating equipment where the grower can have his seed cleaned and treated. Small, inexpensive machines are also available for farm-size operations.

The prevention of loose smut of wheat and barley in which the fungus is within the seed requires special water soak treatment. Pennsylvania has very strict regulations limiting loose smut in certified seed, and hot water treatment is not necessary where such seed is purchased. The ceresan and panogen chemicals have given excellent results and are recommended. Extension Circular 196, which describes the diseases and lists chemicals and water treatment methods for control, can be obtained at the extension office.

Protect Beef Heifers

Adams County farmers who raise beef cattle are urged to vaccinate their heifer calves against brucellosis.

Figures released recently by the Pennsylvania Bureau of Animal Industry for the last fiscal year reveal that vaccination is the best brucellosis insurance. When over 16,500 cattle were tested for the first time last year, 3.6 per cent were non-vaccinated reactors. Vaccinated reactors slaughtered from these same totaled 0.19 per cent — less than two animals in every 1,000. With beef cattle operations, good breeding efficiency and a healthy calf from every cow are vital to success. Vaccination has been proven the best way to protect cattle herds from this infection. This is the reason why vaccination services and strain 19B (abortus vaccine) are provided without charge by the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture for dairy and beef cattle herds.

Heifers, four through eight months, are eligible for vaccination. Most beef cattle owners strive to have their heifers vaccinated when the majority are six months old. This service is provided by practicing veterinarians throughout Pennsylvania.

The need for 100 per cent vaccination for beef cattle herds on the area plan is suggested for protection against this costly disease.

Buy Right Variety

Keep two important facts in mind when buying seed. First, select varieties which have been tested and proven superior in Pennsylvania. Then buy high quality seed of that variety. Penn State agronomists and agricultural agents are conducting trials and demonstrations in various counties throughout the state to determine those varieties best suited for each area.

Seeds of different varieties look alike and there is no way to tell the seed of high yielding varieties from lower-yielding varieties. However, if certified seed is bought, you can be sure it's the best seed of the varieties proven superior in Pennsylvania.

The certified seed tag on a bag of seed assures you of getting seed from a field which was inspected and found to have high varietal purity. It also assures you that the seed is well graded, free of noxious weeds, and of high germination.

Sometimes there are price differences between different seed-lots of the same variety. Keep in mind that certification sets minimum standards for high quality and there may be variations in percentage germination, weed and other crop seed content, color, grading and appearance above these minimums. Obviously, seed which germinated 87 per cent is not worth as much as seed which germinates 96 per cent if the other quality factors are equal.

Before buying seed read the analysis tag on the bag, then purchase seed of the brands which consistently bag the best quality seed.

Fifteen of New Jersey's 21 counties have mosquito control commissions.

EGG PRICES UP ON FARM MART

Egg prices increased this morning at the Farmers Market when the usual 55 to 65 cents a dozen moved to 65 to 70 cents a dozen. Farmers said it was not unusual for egg prices to increase at this time of year.

Garden lettuce was 15 cents a box; Seckel pears, 20 cents a quart box; corn, 35 cents a dozen; pumpkin pies 45 and 50 cents; cherry, egg custard, and apple pies, 50 cents, and smaller pies, 15 cents each.

Purple and green grapes were 20 cents a box; squash, 10 to 25 cents each; eggplant, 10 and 15 cents each; Bartlett pears, 20 and 25 cents a box; yellow tomatoes, 25 cents a box; pumpkins, 10 to 25 cents a piece; rhubarb, 15 cents a bunch; carrots, 15 cents a box.

Other Prices

In the meat and fowl department, cured bacon was 60 cents a pound and chicken was 50 cents a pound. Pullet eggs, found on one stand, were selling for 30 cents a dozen; shell-bark nuts, 15 cents a box; sweet potatoes, 30 cents a box; vinegar, 65 cents a gallon; apples, 45 cents a half peck, and 90 cents a peck; green beans, 15 cents a box; 30 and 35 cents a box.

Parsley, five cents a bunch; jellies: grape, crabapple, strawberry, quince, raspberry, and plum, 25 cents a jar; apple butter, 50 cents a jar; butter, 65 cents a pound; cottage cheese, 20 cents a pint jar; cream, 20 cents a half pint, 40 cents a pint; potato salad, 25 cents a pint; soap, five cents a bar or six for a quarter.

Future Of Higgins Is Much In Doubt

CLEVELAND (AP)—Does Mike Higgins' future as the Boston Red Sox manager hinge on the current Western trip, as some rumors say?

If so, the Cleveland Indians didn't help much Friday night with a 5-4 verdict for Boston's fourth straight loss. The Sox lost all three games in Chicago.

As a result of the collapse in the West, Boston is 3½ games back of the second-place White Sox and only two in front of the fourth-place Detroit Tigers. Prior to the losing skein, Boston was only half a game out of second.

Mothers' Sunday School classes, will be served by the men of the church.

The business session, scheduled to begin at 7:30 p.m., will be held in the Sunday School chapel. Any interested person, unable to attend the dinner, will be welcome at the business session. A mimeographed copy of the constitution to be adopted will be given to everyone present before the start of the business session.

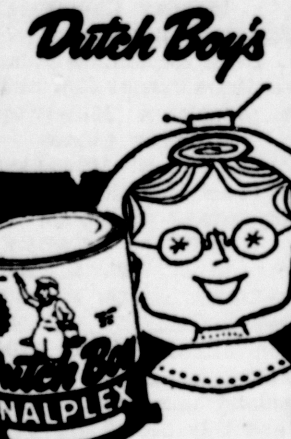

A discussion and question and answer period about the program of the United Lutheran Church Women and how it will be organized in St. James will follow the election of officers.

The program will conclude with the organization of circles for the coming year. These circles will meet in the morning, afternoon or evening, depending upon the choice of the women who have signified their intention of joining the Women of St. James.

KASHRUTH UNIT PUTS SEAL ON KOSHER FOODS

By TOM HENSHAW
AP Religion Writer

In these times of prepackaged foods it's comforting for the Jewish housewife to know there is an organization like the Kashruth Division of the Union of Orthodox Jewish Congregations in America.

The Kashruth Division — better known as the Kosher Certification Service — is the outfit that sees to the ritual purity of mass-produced foods sold on a national scale.

Since its inception in 1925 the Kashruth Division has progressed to the point where its discreet seal of approval, the letter U inside the letter O, appears on some 900 grocery products put out by more than 150 firms.

"Some Never Kosher"

"We try to make life easier for the Jewish housewife," says Division Director A. H. Eisenman.

"It's our purpose to enable a Jewish housewife to go into a supermarket to get food and be sure it's kosher."

Literally, kosher means "fit" or "proper" or in conformity with Jewish dietary laws. Kashruth is the condition of being kosher. It's important to all Orthodox, most Conservative and some Reformed Jews.

Some foods can never be kosher. Carnivorous animals, for instance, any insect or reptile, shellfish and scaly fish, or the 24 birds forbidden by name in the Torah.

Fill Modern Gap

Others — animals with split hooves that chew their cud, accepted domestic fowl, fish with fins and easily removable scales, — are made kosher in their preparation under rabbinical supervision.

There was a time when the local rabbi or communal kashruth council was able to pass on all food. Now, with food prepared sometimes 3,000 miles from the eventual consumer, that's obviously impossible.

The Orthodox Union's Kashruth Division fills the gap. A company seeking the O-U seal of approval for foods first fills out an application form listing ingredients and methods of preparation. Then it submits to an inspection by a local rabbi.

Production Supervised

The report then goes to the Kashruth Commission of the Rabbinical Council of America, an affiliate of the Orthodox Union that passes on rabbinic regulations of the Kashruth program.

If the report satisfies the commission and the company accepts the requirements laid down by the council, the two parties sign an agreement and the company has a right to apply the O-U symbol to its kosher products.

R. W. SERVICE, 84, 'POET OF YUKON,' DIES THURSDAY

LANCIEUX, France (AP) — Robert W. Service, poet of the Yukon who wrote "The Shooting of Dan McGrew," died Thursday night. He was 84.

The sourdough poet apparently died of a heart attack. His wife was with him in their home on Robert Service Street, in this little Brittany coastal town.

Service estimated that the 130 lines of his most famous works brought him $500,000.

He was working in a bank in the Yukon and wrote the verse to be recited at a church social. It never was, however, because it had a few hells and damns.

Was Fired Upon

Service said he sat up all one night scratching the verse on the backs of old envelopes. One of the bank guards, seeing the light on in the bank, fired at Service, thinking he was a robber, "and came pretty damned close."

He tossed the verse aside for some time and then, getting a $100 bonus from the bank, made arrangements with a publishing house in Toronto to bring out a book of verse at his own expense.

"Then I got a letter from the publishers saying the printers had been selling 'Dan' from galley proofs and it was so popular they wanted to bring out the book at their expense. It sold like wild-fire."

"I Hate That Verse"

This was in 1907 and since, Service said, he had reached the point where "I hate that verse."

Service wrote more than 1,000 verses ("Don't call them poems"), six novels and a two-volume autobiography.

Service had lived in Monaco and France for a number of years. Several weeks ago he became ill with what appeared to be the flu.

About 1912 Service left the Yukon and went to report Balkan wars for Montreal and Toronto newspapers. In 1913 he married a Frenchwoman and served with the Red Cross attached to the French army in World War I.
